PRINCIPLES OF DEMOCRACY

THE LIVING ISSUES OF THE DAY

Forceful, Earnest and Eloquent Speech by State Chairman Simmons Last Night—Enthusiastically Greeted by a Large Crowd—The Conditions Which Called Forth the Amendment and the Effects Which Will Follow Its Ratification—Federal Judiciary Shall Not Coerce the People—Buying the Philippines a Bad Business—Why Our Country's Trade is Good—McKinley's Scheme Bad as a Business Proposition, but Worse Morally—Proud of Bryan, Stevenson and Kitchin.

Not in recent years has a political speech in Greensboro been listened to more intently or made a deeper impression than that of Hon. F. M. Simmons last night. The court room was packed with people who sat and stood while the chieftain of the Democratic forces in North Carolina spoke forcefully, earnestly and eloquently of the great political issues now pressing for solution.

The speaker was introduced by County Chairman Scales, who spoke of his matchless leadership of the Democratic hosts to successive and glorious victories. Reference was made to the debt the Democratic party and the people of North Carolina in general owed him.

The first part of Mr. Simmons' speech was taken up with a discussion of the recently adopted constitutional amendment—the conditions which caused it to be submitted to the people and the effects that would follow its ratification. In speaking of attempts to intimidate on the part of Federal office holders, he said: "I want to say to the election officers—the red shirts, if you please, that wherever an attempt is made to interfere with them in the performance of their duty, there I expect to be as quick as steam can carry me. And I want to say to the Republican party and its Federal office holders—United States marshals, district attorneys, deputy marshals and deputy collectors, and judges, if you please—that their arrests of registrars is perfectly understood. Any attempt of the Federal judiciary to coerce the people of North Carolina or to overawe the people into silence in order to prevent them from the discharge of their solemn duty will not succeed, for the white men of North Carolina are behind the election officers of North Carolina and will protect them to the last ditch." (Applause.)

Then followed a brief discussion of the many good effects of the amendment, Mr. Simmons saying there was not a thing in it which a good man could not defend and that all the promises and assurances given in its name would be kept. He added that it would not only satisfy our own people, but would ultimately meet with the approval of the conscience of the nation. He said that while the amendment did away with State and county negro office holders, it was beyond the power of the people of the State to do away with negro Federal office holders. The only way to do this was to elect William J. Bryan president. (Applause.)

In discussing the Philippine question, Mr. Simmons said: "Just as we thought we had finally settled the negro question in this State the Republican party, through the administration, has raised a similar question in a part of the globe under our feet. * * * President McKinley, in your name and with your money, has bought ten million inhabitants of the Philippines, paying for them $20,000,000. But you say, 'He got 'em cheap.' Yes, he got them very cheap; only $2 a head for the mulattoes and half civilized natives, with their land thrown in. But you have learned from hard experience that the cheapest thing is often the dearest. So it is with the Philippines. The question is not, what they cost? but, what are they worth? We have had them over a year and they have not brought us as much trade as is represented by the consumption of our army of occupation. They are costing us nearly $300,000,000 per annum, or $4 a head for every man, woman and child in the United States; two-thirds as much as the annual expenses of the United States government. What is North Carolina's part of this expense? Just about $5,000,000 a year. More than it takes to maintain our

Bryan in Washington.

By Wire to The Telegram.

Washington, Oct. 23.—Bryan arrived this morning and was met at the station by a delegation of Maryland and District Democrats. After dining with W. P. Springer he went to the Baltimore and Ohio station where he made a short speech, and left at nine o'clock for Rockville, Maryland, accompanied by prominent Democrats.

PREFERS IMPRISONMENT.

Twice Declined an Opportunity to Escape From Jail—Quietly Smoked a Cigar and Guarded the Prisoners.

J. L. York, concerning whose operations The Telegram has had considerable to say recently, appears bent on remaining in jail until he shall be tried for fraudulently using the mails. A few days ago we told of how he refused to take advantage of an opportunity to escape from the Fayetteville jail. Last week he was removed to Wilmington, along with other Federal prisoners. Saturday night a fire occurred at the jail and he again declined to take advantage of an opportunity to escape. The following account of the affair is from the Messenger:

"When the fire broke through the grate in the office floor, Mr. J. L. York was lying asleep on a cot two feet from it, but he was aroused by the screams of the women. When the doors were thrown open to admit the crowd, there was great excitement and crowding in the jail office. Mr. York, however, was one of the coolest men there. He stood around quietly smoking a cigar and looked on instead of trying to make his escape. As the doors were wide open and being unknown to most of the crowd, he could have walked out and made good his escape. He took in the situation and laughed about the snap that was offered to him, but declined to take advantage of it.

"It will be remembered that Mr. York was brought here Thursday night from the Fayetteville jail, from which several prisoners escaped on Wednesday morning. It was he who informed the sheriff that the prisoners had escaped, not then taking advantage of another fine opportunity to escape.

"This makes the second time now that he could have gotten away, but he would not do so. Instead of getting out of jail himself last night, he stood guard over another prisoner and prevented an escape."

A Sketch of Greensboro Methodism.

This is the title of a small booklet being issued by the Board of Stewards of West Market Street church, containing a directory of the session of the Western North Carolina Conference, which convenes here November 21st.

The sketch of Methodism which will be printed in connection with the directory was collated by Mr. James W. Albright, at the request of the Board of Stewards, and will contain a brief history of the Methodist churches in the city, together with other information concerning the denomination here. It will be of much interest to our citizens and should, and doubtless will, be carefully preserved.

Revival at Spring Garden Street Chapel.

The meeting announced a month ago to begin in the Methodist chapel, near the Normal College, on the second Sunday in this month, was postponed a week on account of the meeting in West Market street church. As it could not be put off longer, it began last Sunday morning. The congregation, both morning and night, was large and there was considerable interest at the night service. The attendance last night was not so large, but the meeting was a profitable one.

Rev. Dr. L. W. Crawford is doing the preaching for the present. Services may be expected every night this week. All persons are cordially invited to attend.

Hard on Poetry.

Winston Journal.

Charity and Children prefers potatoes to poetry in payment of subscription. Most poetry is small potatoes however.

"Are these socks all wool?" asked the customer. "I—er—don't think so," replied the new clerk; "they are marked on the box 'half-hose.'"

CHINA LIKES THE AGREEMENT.

WILL HELP IN PEACE NEGOTIATIONS

Fourteenth Infantry Has Departed from Peking—The Meeting of the Ministers Who are to Begin Peace Negotiations Not Yet Appointed—Some Ministers Have Not Yet Been Instructed and One is Ill.

By Wire to The Telegram.

Shanghai, Oct. 23.—The agreement of Germany and Great Britain in regard to China gives great satisfaction here. Taotai, of Shanghai, and Shang, director of telegraph and railways, today freely expressed their approval of the agreement and gave it as their opinion that it would have a good effect on the forthcoming peace negotiations.

NO DATE YET FOR MEETING.

Peking, Oct. 23.—The Fourteenth United States Infantry has departed from this city. It was escorted beyond the walls by the other American troops. The Royal Welch fusiliers have also departed. The date of the foreign ministers with Li Hung Chang has not yet been fixed definitely. Some ministers have not yet received instructions from their governments. Two are absent and one ill.

RUSSIA GETS A RAILWAY.

Yokohama, Oct. 22.—It is officially announced that the Russian and Japanese commissioners have agreed that Russia shall direct all the traffic on the railway between Yangsun and Shan-Kwan. The allies will have the right to use the line for military purposes.

WHO IS TOMPKINS?

A Good Show by a Clever Company Last Night.

A very good audience greeted the Palmer Stock Company at the Academy of Music last night. The attraction, "Who is Tompkins?" was very cleverly presented and thoroughly enjoyed.

The specialties were first-class in every respect, being above the average in point of excellence. The music was also very good, "I Dreamed," a baritone solo by Will Butler, being especially well received by the audience.

The company is composed of members who understand their business and are well versed in the art of pleasing the public.

"Two Orphans," which is said to be handled most excellently by Mr. Palmer's clever company, will be presented tonight.

Death in a Football Game.

William Dougal Price, of Palestine, Texas, a student at Bingham School, died yesterday afternoon of injuries received in a football game at Asheville Saturday, says a special to the Charlotte Observer.

The first and second elevens were playing a practice game and Price, who was left end, attempted to stop interference and fell, his head being partly under his body and several players fell on top of him. Price's spinal cord was sprained and the lower part of his body paralyzed. He was 18 years of age.

Mr. Petty and Miss Worth to Wed.

Cards have been issued announcing the marriage of Mr. Charles W. Petty, of this city, and Miss Ruth Worth, of Raleigh, the happy event to be solemnized at the home of the bride's parents on the 31st inst.

The prospective bride is a daughter of State Treasurer and Mrs. W. H. Worth.

Prize Apples.

Mr. Joseph J. Stone was today exhibiting some of the largest apples ever seen in this city. The combined weight of two of them was 2 pounds and 10 ounces, the larger one weighing 22½ ounces and measuring 16 inches in circumference.

The apples were shipped from Charlotte by Mrs. Stone's mother, Mrs. Duls.

Mr. Brown Buys a Stock of Merchandise.

The Imperial Syndicate, which has been conducting a five and ten cent store on West Market street, today disposed of the stock to Mr. Sample S. Brown, who will immediately move it to Reidsville, where he is engaged in business.

VOLUNTEER ARMY COMING HOME

Transports Will Begin the Work November 1 and Continue Till Next June.

By Wire to The Telegram.

San Francisco, Oct. 23.—Military headquarters here today stated that the first installment of the volunteer army now in the Philippines will leave Manila November 1 and from that time till next June the transports will bring home about twenty-five thousand, at the rate of four to five thousand men a month. The sick will, if possible, be shipped on the earlier transports that they may travel without crowding. The various regiments will be mustered out and paid as soon as possible after arrival here. By this arrangement the camps now established at Presidio will be sufficient to accommodate the entire army.

JULE CARR RALLY.

The Friends of the General Will Hold a Meeting Thursday Night.

Friends of Gen. Julian S. Carr are arranging to hold a big rally in the court house Thursday night in the interest of that gentleman's candidacy for the Senate. There will be good speaking and an abundance of stirring music by two bands.

Every Democratic voter in Greensboro is invited to be present and participate in the meeting.

There is no party machinery behind Gen. Carr, but his friends all over the State are active in their support. His admirers in Greensboro expect to keep up with the procession.

OUR TOBACCO MARKET.

Sales are Heavy and Prices Good—Farmers Well Pleased.

It is a matter of gratification to the local tobaccoists and the growers of this section that the Greensboro tobacco market is constantly on the upgrade. Notwithstanding the fact that the crop is very short this year, the sales have been a great deal heavier than for the corresponding period of last season.

The warehouses have had heavy breaks during the past few weeks and the sales have been uniformly satisfactory, especially to the farmers, who have been well pleased with prices.

Five Children Suffocated.

By Wire to The Telegram.

Montreal, Oct. 23.—Five children were suffocated by a fire in a small tenement house this morning, the father being badly burned in the attempt to save them.

MONUMENT ON A MOUNTAIN.

The Difficulty of Getting Heavy Stones for the Work to Lookout Mountain's Crest.

A serious problem confronts the engineers in charge of the erection of the great New York peace memorial on the summit of Lookout mountain. The question is how to get the material for the monument to the top of the mountain, 2,000 feet above the surrounding country. The railroad which has been running to the top of the mountain as a freight line has been discontinued, and the rails will be sold for old iron.

It is unsafe even if it were in operation, the trestles and cross-ties being worn and rotten, says the Philadelphia Record. The track in its present condition will only safely stand a load of 30,000 pounds, the engineers say, while one of the stones to be used in the monument will weigh nearly 60,000 pounds, and many of them 50,000 pounds. There is no roadway near the spot where the monument is being erected, it being high above all the surrounding country. In case no other means can be devised to handle the material and move it to the top a road four miles in length will be constructed especially for the purpose.

Active Only at Night.

Surgeon McKenna, who has passed the last six months on the island of Mindanao, does not hesitate to maintain that the number of quadrupeds and insects enjoying existence in the moonlight of the tropics exceeds that of their daylight rivals; so much so, indeed, that whole species and groups or species are represented only by nocturnal creatures. Forests that remained as still as the grave under the glare of the vertical sun are alive and uproar within an hour after sunset.

MYSTERIOUS MURDER CLEARED

THE CRIME OF FOUR YOUNG MEN

A Young Woman Was Given Knockout Drops and Carried Away in a Cab—Murderers Discovered That She Was Dying and Called at a Physician's House—"Too Late" Said He, "She's Already Dead."

By Wire to The Telegram.

Paterson, N. J., Oct. 23.—The mystery of the murder of Kennie Bossehefer last Thursday night was cleared up today. Four young men have been arrested charged with the crime. They are George Kerr, Walter McAllister, William Death, Andrew Campbell.

The police say the men drugged the girl and took her in a cab to a lonely part of Paterson. They soon found that she was dying and drove to the house of a physician. He said "you came to late, she is already dead." Then the men deliberately bundled the lifeless corpse into the cab and drove to Waganaw Bridge and tossed it out, where it was found. The poor girl's skull was smashed by the fall. The police say that death was caused by knock-out drops and assault.

TERRIBLE TRAGEDY IN CLINTON.

A Young Man Who in a Drunken Frenzy Kills His Brother-in-law, Remains Speechless After Becoming Sober.

Special to Charlotte Observer.

Clinton, Oct. 22.—One of the most shocking tragedies in the history of Sampson county occurred here Saturday night. It was the killing of Lee Murrill by his brother-in-law, Lee Kirby. Kirby was drinking and Murrill was trying to get him off home when, in a drunken frenzy, he cut Murrill on both arms, severing an artery in one. The wounded man bled to death in a short while. He was beyond hope when the surgeons got to him.

The dead man leaves a wife and one child. Kirby was unmarried. Both were men of excellent families and the tragedy is greatly deplored in this community. Kirby is in jail and will be tried at the February term of court. He is overwhelmed with a realization of the enormity of his crime and has been speechless since becoming sober and learning of Murrill's death. The families of both have the sympathies of this community. Murrill came here from Onslow county and his body was taken there today for burial.

A Peculiar Suicide.

By Wire to The Telegram.

Buffalo, N. Y., Oct. 23.—Bent on suicide, Morris Polork, aged thirty years, fired five shots into his body last night, then drank enough carbolic acid to blister his mouth. He gave himself up to the police, but still lives.

Chairman Jones Predicting With His Usual Cheerfulness.

Chicago, Oct. 22.—Chairman Jones, of the Democratic national committee, said today: "I do not believe there is any doubt that Mr. Bryan will carry New York. I believe our chances for carrying Ohio are better than the Republicans. I regard Illinois as an exceedingly doubtful State."

"Telegrams from the chairman of the State Democratic committee of California say we are going to carry California. I have no doubt of the election of Mr. Bryan."

A Thorough Railroad Man.

Durham Sun.

Master of Trains H. A. Williams, who was recently transferred to the main line of the Southern road, was here Sunday. Captain Williams has many friends in Durham who are always glad to see him. He is one of the very best men in the employ of the Southern, and a thorough railroad man in every sense of the word.

Cotton Market.

New York, Nov. 23.—Cotton: November, .87; January, .896; May .893; June .890.

A new importation with Nat Reiss' big show this season is the side-splitting London character sketch team, Boone & Girdler. The work of this pair is of the cleverest variety. They will "jolly" you up a little between acts.

Silicous—"I believe in a man having his joke." Cynious—"So do I—and keeping it."

STATE LITERARY ASSOCIATION.

AN ORGANIZATION TO BE EFFECTED.

State Fair Formally Opened by Governor Russell—Dr. Lewis Predicts Smallpox During the Coming Winter—Miss Worth to Wed a Greensboro Gentleman—Mrs. Russell a Believer in Woman's Rights. Special Correspondence of The Telegram.

Raleigh, Oct. 23.—This evening in the music room of the beautiful Raney memorial library building, the State Literary Association will be formally launched, Judge Walter Clark presided. The features of the evening will be the talks on specially assigned subjects, as follows: By Prof. J. S. Bassett, of Trinity College, and Maj. Graham Daves, of Newberne, on "How to collect and preserve material for State and local history;" by Maj. E. J. Hale, of the Fayetteville Observer, on "Practical plans for publishing what we produce;" and by Prof. E. F. Sledd, of Wake Forest College, on "How we may stimulate the production of literature in North Carolina."

Invitations are issued by Treasurer and Mrs. W. H. Worth to the marriage of their daughter, Ruth, to Mr. Charles Watson Petty, of Greensboro, October 31. It will be a quiet wedding at the home of the treasurer here.

The State charters the Littleton hosiery mills, at Littleton, capital $20,000.

The news of the withdrawal of Col. Waddell from the Senatorial race had been for some days expected. He was never really in the race.

At noon yesterday Governor Russell formally opened the 40th State fair. He was escorted to the grounds by president Charles McNamee and secretary Joseph E. Pogue, of the fair association. Chief Marshal W. T. Old is not here nor will he be here until Wednesday.

Mr. Gallert, of the Ninth District, says that it is dead sure to give Crawford a majority, and a handsome one, too.

The predictions of Dr. Richard H. Lewis, the secretary to the State board of health, that there will be a great deal of smallpox in this State during the winter of 1900-01, will no doubt be fully verified. News of an outbreak in Pamlico county comes. It is among negroes, who, as a rule, are as notorious concealers of diseases as they are of criminals of their own race. In 1898 it was negroes who hid the disease here. Now if a lot of the medical jays who have been saying the disease is chicken pox can be "put where the dogs can't get them," a good deal can be done, for to this class of knowalls much of the spread of the disease has been due. Some of them honestly wouldn't know smallpox if they met it in the road, while some are either afraid or ashamed to say what it is.

The reign of the watermelon is pretty nearly ended, but not quite, for they were on sale here today, and some darkeys were seen eating them. The scuppernong grapes are yet on sale.

Judge Purnell has gone to Newberne to hold a term of the district and circuit courts. The docket is an average one and there are no cases of importance.

Twenty convicts from the Anson farm and a like number from the penitentiary have been sent to the farms on the Roanoke river. Penitentiary officials say the cotton on the latter farms will be picked in 20 days. They also say the crop is a fine one. The fact is that the general yield of cotton is larger than was expected. It makes some of the growers quite angry to say this.

Quite a funny error in a newspaper here yesterday has caused amusement. A notice stated that the "Daughters of the Evolution" would meet. This raised the question whether Darwin had any followers in this part of the world.

Miss Belle Kearney writes a letter to a W. C. T. U. paper in which she says Mrs. D. L. Russell has become a supporter of the woman's rights idea. She says Mrs. Russell a graceful tribute.

Don't judge by appearances," says the Manayunk Philosopher. "The spoon is an insignificant looking article, but it has caused more stir than anything else."

He wooed her with a will. As he was 87 and it was made out in her favor don't waste any time working up sympathy for the suitor, dear reader. He won out, hands down.

"Are you perfectly sure this milk is free from germs?" asked the careful housekeeper. "Yes, lady," replied the milkman, confidentially; "we boil every drop of water that goes into it."

For a long time were worn only by the older people to assist in reading or near work, but with increased knowledge of the eye defects are known to exist in youth as well, which properly adjusted GLASSES RELIEVE, thereby curing chronic headaches, neuralgia and many nervous afflictions caused by eyestrain. There are thousands of living testimonies to this fact.

Next to the Consumer

is where we stand in the lumber business. At the kicking post, as it were, in regard to prices.

First comes the owner of the timber. He just woke up to the value of it and wants double last year's prices. Then the sawmill man. He has not been making a fortune and thinks now he should share a little in the general prosperity.

They say to us: "We must have so much for our trees and work." After a while it is "up to you." Don't kick. You don't suppose we have nerve enough to put up prices unless they had first been put up on us. No, indeed. But prices are NOT high. They have been to low and are just now getting reasonable. Your children will be glad to build at double the price it now costs you. It is a trite, but true saying, if you want to build, "Now is the time."

WHERE AMERICANS MAY WIN.

Portugal a Great Field for American Enterprise, Says Our Minister There.

There is a great field in Portugal for American enterprise, writes John N. Irwin, United States minister to that kingdom, in Success. Our manufacturers really ought to "prosper" in that little-known country. In the first place they are made most welcome. The king and the queen, both young and truly regal speak English perfectly and are among our warmest admirers. They reflect the sentiment of their people. In the second place, American goods are needed, and the progressive part of the population would welcome them as a means of advancing the country's prosperity. English-made machinery now used there is of old type and not up to date. In Lisbon the old style of transportation is being changed to the electric system. While English capital is conducting the enterprise, every bit of material, from the smallest bolt to the modern cars, is of American make. Portugal sends us cork, and we send her petroleum and wheat, but in my opinion the balance of trade now in our favor could be materially increased if our manufacturers were to take full advantage of their opportunities in the little kingdom.

OBJECTED TO ANY DICTATION.

Gov. Taylor of Tennessee Effectually Ended the Interference of Legislators.

Gov. Bob Taylor, of Tennessee, was just exactly opposite to Gov. Allen, with as tender a heart as a woman, and the way he pardoned out convicts was something awful. He was waited upon by a committee of the legislature, who very flatly and in no uncertain way told him that this "wholesale pardoning must stop."

"Gov'ner Bob" looked at the committee, tapped a bell, asked for his pardon clerk, and when he came, said: "Make out pardons for every man in the penitentiary."

The clerk bowed and withdrew. Then the governor looked at the committee, who were staring as if they thought he was going mad.

"Gentlemen," he said, finally, "I am governor of Tennessee, and if this committee or any other ever again seeks to interfere with my constitutional right to pardon I'll sign every one of those pardons which the clerk is making out. Good morning."

MOUNT ARARAT ASCENDED.

The Peak Was Recently Accomplished by a Party of Russian Scientists.

The Ararat mountains in Armenia comprise two peaks situated seven miles apart. They are known as Great and Little Ararat, and are respectively 17,260 and 14,320 feet above the plain. They partially belong to three countries, Russia, Turkey and Persia. The mountains are covered on the tops with perpetual snow, ice and glaciers. The summit of Great Ararat was reached in 1829 by Prof. Parrot, says the Scientific American, and on September 2, 1900, a member of the Russian Geographical society named Peoggenpohl ascended the peak with a considerable party. The difficulties of the ascent are very great, and his successful expedition will be welcome news in geographical circles. Ascents are rare, having been made in 1834, 1843, 1845, 1850 and 1856. Little Ararat is even more difficult to climb, as its declivities are greater and steeper, its form being almost conical. It is believed to be the spot where the ark rested, but there is a tradition that Mount Judi in southern Armenia was the spot. The mountain is of volcanic origin and was in eruption in 1785, and in 1840 there was a vast discharge of sulphurous vapors from its sides, and a tremendous earthquake shook the surrounding country. There is considerable literature devoted to the mountain.

DOES IT SETTLE ANYTHING?

The Progressive Farmer, which, by the way, under the present management of its young editor, is doing a really fine work, refers to an editorial in a recent issue of the Washington Post on the subject of wherein the election will fail to decide by "the count of votes, whether it brings in McKinley or Bryan, to not remove a single doubt that now exists as to the feeling of the electorate regarding expansion and the issues that have come out of it, and will be equally lacking in instruction as to popular feeling regarding the currency and the trusts." The Farmer says:

Thousands and thousands of anti-expansionists will vote for McKinley because of their opposition to free silver. Men like Senator Hoar and Andrew Carnegie who vie with Bryan himself in opposition to expansion belong to this class, while Benjamin Harrison and Thos. B. Reed, who have occupied the two highest positions in the gift of the Republican party, criticize their party's stand on expansion, but will vote for expansionists on account of the currency issue. Then there are thousands of silver men like Senator Wm. M. Stewart, who will support McKinley because of his attitude on expansion while opposing his gold standard views, and thousands of men like Carl Schurz will vote for Bryan as a protest against expansion.

This being so, can the Republicans in case of victory justly claim that the people endorse all the policies of their party? Or can it be clearly demonstrated that Mr. Bryan's election would stamp the people's approval upon his expansion policy?

It is true that the issues are considerably jumbled. It is quite a pity that the people are unable to pass upon them one at a time. This is where the English system is superior to ours. But whether in justice the victory of one party may be taken as an endorsement of all it stands for, it is very evident that the successful party will so construct it. This lends point to what Judge Barron said Saturday in his letter supporting Bryan:

Every time when a President seeks election, the primary question always is whether we perceive or condemn what he has done, and especially when he means to keep on doing it. In this instance I wish to condemn, and have no means of doing so except by voting in the only way which can possibly be effective.

In this election there will be many voters who do not like all that Mr. Bryan stands for, yet they are unable to put in a vote of confidence and approval of Mr. McKinley's course. The same may be said of other men who do not approve of Mr. McKinley in all things but who find themselves unable to oppose Mr. Bryan's policies. What are such men to do? Hold off and not vote? This would be illogical, because if one may do it all may, and were all to do so we should have no government. The only alternate is as Judge Harmon suggests, to adopt the accepted belief that the election or defeat of a party is an approval or a disapproval, and vote for the less of two evils.

Enthusiastic correspondents reporting speeches by their favorite candidates for Senator wind up by saying "Mr. So and So did not once mention the senatorial race." Doubtless the candidates give their audiences credit for being able to take a hint without being knocked down.

ALL MIXED UP ON TRUSTS.

Six years ago half of the Republican party was engaged in proving that that their party had always been a silver party, while the other half was equally emphatic that it had always been for gold. The same thing was true of the two wings of the Democratic party. It was a general mix up. Nothing has equalled it since until today, when the present jumble of the two parties on the subject of trusts goes a stone's throw beyond it. The contradiction and confusion is just such as to warrant that trusts will not be dealt with in any legal form. In the extreme eventuality of Mr. Bryan's election and his support in the House by enough Democrats of his way of thinking, he might be able to inaugurate some legislation directed towards a real attempt to crush them, but that would be killed by the Senate. There is nothing in the record or hopes of the Republicans that suggests that they wish to or would try to manage the trusts. The position is about this way:

The Republican platform denounces trusts, yet Chairman Hanna, its official head, says there are no trusts. He is contradicted by Governor Roosevelt, who says that Chairman Jones is a member of a trust. Chairman Jones replies that the American Cotton Bale Company, the organization referred to, is not a trust, yet there is not a definition of trusts that will not include this one. It is a trust pure and simple, and in denying that it is, Chairman Jones is as ridiculous as Chairman Hanna is when he says there are no trusts. The complication is yet further increased by the position of the Democrats in opposition to the trusts and at the same time silently ignoring the one cause that does more than any other to help trusts—the tariff. We believe that Mr. Bryan is sincere in his declarations against trusts, yet when he puts all the combinations usually called trusts into one lump and says that they are all bad, that there are not good trusts and bad trusts, he simply convicts his chairman of what that gentleman vehemently denies.

It looks as if the trusts were to keep going, good bad or indifferent.

And now a new argument, so far as North Carolina is concerned, is on foot, and quite an interesting one, too. It is one that has passed the argumentative stage in more thickly populated states. It was mentioned in The Telegram a day or two ago that the progressive Charlotte Observer, which had already long been the largest daily of the State, had taken another step in advance of its contemporaries and would issue a paper on Monday. Now, Dr. Barron, of the Baptist church of that city, referred to the matter in his sermon Sunday, and condemned the movement as a desecration of the Sabbath. The Observer promises all its men one day of rest in each week, and would not issue a paper on Monday if its patrons did not want it, to be sure. And there you have the question of which is the more tenable ground, the one that the public stands on in wishing a paper made by Sunday labor, or the people who supply the demand, especially since they are still to observe one rest day.

The withdrawal of Col. Waddell narrows the race considerably and increases the volume of far that will be made to fly from now on.

Arrest of Registrar Deported.

Salisbury, N. C. The action of the Republicans in having Democratic registrar John A. Murphy, of this city, indicted in the Federal court at Statesville last week on charges of violating the registration law, is a deplorable one. The matter is calculated to stir up race prejudice, a very regrettable occurrence. Just at a time when it was hoped that the race problem was settled a measure is taken that will arouse animosity between the white and black man. This is very unfortunate.

GOOD ADVICE.

The most miserable things in the world are those suffering from dyspepsia and liver complaint. More than seventy-five per cent. of the people in the United States are afflicted with these two diseases and their effects: such as sour stomach, sick headache, habitual costiveness, palpitation of the heart, heart-burn, waterbrash, gnawing and burning pains at the pit of the stomach, yellow skin, coated tongue and disagreeable taste in the mouth, coming up of food after eating, low spirits, etc. Go to your druggist and get a bottle of August Flower for 75 cents. Two doses will relieve you. Try it. Get Green's Prize Almanac. Grissom & Fordham.

How the Queen Managed It.
One of the royal housemaids fell ill recently in Windsor castle. One of the clergy attached to the royal residence—it was one of the canons of Windsor—went to visit the ailing girl, says Under the Union Jack. The sufferer was in a bed in a room which was high up in the building, and could only be approached by several flights of stairs. The canon who, by the way, is not in the first flower of youth, was a little tired by the ascent. When he arrived at the room of the sick girl he remarked upon her peculiarly radiant expression, and also made a half-peculiar allusion to the altitude of her bedroom and the difficulty he had experienced on the stairs. "I am happy, sir," said the housemaid. "To-day the queen herself has been to see me! Her majesty came into this room and sat down by me. Then she said, 'I have got away from them all and come to see you. Do you know how I did it? I managed by sitting down on every third stair!'"

IMPORTANT!

Greensboro, N. C., Sept. 28th, 1900.

TO OUR CUSTOMERS:

On and after October 15th, 1900, we, the undersigned, will do a strictly cash business. Our reasons are as follows:

- 2nd. Laundry, the world over, is a recognized cash business and justly so.
- 3rd. Our accounts are necessarily small, and it causes an endless amount of confusion and expense to collect, besides losses each year in bad bills.
- 4th. All of our current expenses, such as labor, fuel, gas and supplies are cash, hence the stand we take is forced upon us. While we very much regret, in most cases, to exact the spot cash, yet we must treat all alike, and we see no other way out of the difficulty. We trust our customers will lend us their aid by stating when to return laundry and by being prepared to pay for same when delivered. Our drivers will have positive instructions to return to the laundry all packages not paid for.

We have on sale at office (for cash) coupon books from $1 to $5 which can be left at convenient place at home, so that on delivery of bundle the amount of laundry bill can be torn out by the driver.

PRINCIPLES OF DEMOCRACY.

entire State government; more than it costs to make the laws through the Legislature and to execute the laws through the courts and educate your children.

"For what is this paid? The only reason I ever heard was the suggestion that we wanted to become a great world power, and find new markets for our surplus products, and extend our trade at the point of the bayonet and at the price of human blood. There is no necessity for buying foreign territory to find new markets for our products, for we already have the markets of the world open to us.

"The Republicans tell us the increase of trade is due to McKinley's war and the protective tariff. The increase is due neither to the acquisition of foreign territory nor war, nor yet to the tariff, but to this fact: The American manufacturers so overcrowded the home markets that they found it necessary to go abroad in search of new markets. In exploring the world for these markets they discovered this fact: By reason of the superior efficiency of American labor, American manufacturers can sell their products in the open markets of the world in open competition with the cheapest labor on earth. There has not been a time since the Civil war when our manufactured products could not have found unlimited markets, just as the products of the field have, if our manufacturers had been willing, as our farmers have been compelled, to sell at prices fixed by the laws of supply and demand. * * *

"Following the policy of staying at home and attending to our business, we have become not only the richest, but the most powerful nation upon which God's sun ever shone." The speaker then referred to the curse of colonialism had been to modern Europe and contrasted those nations with the rapid growth and development of the United States.

"This scheme of McKinley's is bad as a business proposition and as a matter of policy and expediency, but it is infinitely worse if considered from a moral standpoint. No Christian nation can afford to do an open and notorious wrong that profit may follow. * * * As a Christian nation, we can't afford to enslave the Philippines and deny them the love of self government, always so highly prized by ourselves. (Applause.)

"Now as bad as this proposition of the Republican party, there is another view equally as serious. It involves the question as to whether we shall live or die, survive or perish as the great exemplars of liberty on this continent. The Republican party proposes to hold on to these islands and govern them outside and independent of the constitution. The first condition to do this is a large standing army. The second condition is that we shall confer on our president powers as absolute and arbitrary as those exercised by the Czar of Russia or the Sultan of Turkey. There is still another step. We must confer on Congress power as arbitrary, unlimited and omnipotent as that of the British Parliament. * * * A republic derives its life from a written constitution, and all free institutions spring out of this constitution and rest upon it. Strike down that constitution and you strike down the free institutions which spring from it. * * *

"The questions of tariff, trusts and money are questions of policy, but this question of imperialism is a question of life or death, and therefore Mr. Bryan was right when he said it was the paramount issue. This and the other policies of the Republican party are dictated by the trust barons and tariff magnates, who are more powerful today than the government. Who owns your president today? Mark Hanna. Who owns Hanna? The trusts and monopolies. Therefore they control your government. * * *

"I want to talk a little while longer about local matters. I suppose nobody is unwilling to admit that I am a Democrat. (Applause.) I am not only a Democrat, but I stand on every plank of the platform, both State and National. More than that, I am a Democrat monstrous proud of my party and not ashamed of anything it has done. And I am prouder of my party today than ever before. A few years ago we did vacillate a little, but that is all in the past, and Democracy has once again been regenerated and rebaptized in the doctrines of Jefferson and Jackson. The Republican party was once strong and courageous, but it has lost its backbone and is no longer strong in anything except spoliation at home and pillage abroad.

The platform of the Democratic party rings as clear as a bell on the subject of trusts. It goes farther than denouncing them. It tells the people how it proposes to destroy the robber barons."

Here Mr. Simmons related his experience, when in Congress some years ago, in trying to kill the jute bagging trust. He introduced a bill to place jute bagging on the free list, which would have destroyed the power of the trust. That was the first effort to fight a trust in this way.

"As proud as I am of the bold and courageous stand of our party, I am prouder still of our great leader, William Jennings Bryan. (Great applause.) They may call him a demagogue, an anarchist, a theorist, but he stands today the first citizen of the land, an uncrowned king, the peer of any man living in the world today. (Prolonged applause.) I came tonight to defend the principles of the Democratic party and to speak in behalf of the great leaders, Bryan and Stevenson, and to ask you, in the event of their election, to help hold up their hands by electing to Congress that brave and majestic leader of the Fifth District Democracy, W. W. Kitchin. (Loud applause.) In my judgment, no district in North Carolina has an able, better or more faithful representative. * * *

In closing his speech Mr. Simmons referred to the battles he had waged for the party in the past, saying: "For the fourth time I bring the banner before you and ask you to rally around the flag and help me to again bear it to victory. I have worked so hard, and fought so long, and suffered so much for the old party that I love it as a mother loves her child, and now if its banner were to trail in the dust it would break my heart."

At the conclusion of his speech Mr. Simmons was accorded a regular ovation by his enthusiastic hearers.

It is the deep-seated, obstinate cases of catarrh and rheumatism that B. B. B. (Botanic Blood Balm) cures. It matters not what other treatments, doctors, sprays, liniments, medicated air, blood purifiers, have failed to do, B. B. B. always promptly reaches the real cause and roots out and drives from the bones, joints, mucous membrane, and entire system the specific poison in the blood that causes rheumatism and catarrh. B. B. B. is the only remedy strong enough to do this and cure and so there can never be a return to the symptoms. Don't give up hope, but try B. B. B. (Botanic Blood Balm) or 3 Ba.

Cancer

There are never any external signs of Cancer until the blood is polluted and the system thoroughly contaminated by this deadly virulent poison. Then a sore or ulcer appears on some part of the body; it may be small and harmless looking at first, but as the cancerous cells form and are deposited by the blood near the sore, it increases in size and severity, with sharp shooting pains. No matter how often the sore is removed by the surgeon's knife or flesh destroying plasters, another comes and is worse. The real disease is in the blood, and the treatment must begin there. The poisoned blood must be invigorated and purified, and when this is done cancerous cells can no longer form and the sore will heal naturally and permanently.

Mrs. Sarah M. Keestling, 441 Windsor Ave., Bristol, Tenn., writes: "I am 41 years old, and for three years had suffered with a severe form of Cancer on my jaw, which the doctors said was incurable, and that I could not live more than six months. I accepted their statement as true, and had given up all hope of ever being well again, when my druggist, knowing of my condition, recommended S. S. S. After taking a few bottles the sore began to heal, to the surprise of the physicians, and in a short time made a complete cure. I have gained in flesh, my appetite is splendid, sleep is refreshing—in fact, am enjoying perfect health."

SSS overcomes this destructive poison and removes every vestige of it from the system, makes new, rich blood, strengthens the body and builds up the general health.

If you have a suspicious sore, or have inherited any blood taint, send for our free book on Cancer, and write to our medical department for any information or advice wanted; we make no charge for this service. Your letter will receive prompt and careful attention, and will be held in strictest confidence.

German Syrup is the special prescription of Dr. A. Boschee, a celebrated German physician, and is acknowledged to be one of the most fortunate discoveries in medicine. It quickly cures coughs, colds and all lung troubles of the severest nature, removing, as it does, the cause of the affection and leaving the parts in a strong and healthy condition. It is not an experimental medicine, but has stood the test of years, giving satisfaction in every case, which its rapidly increasing sale every season confirms. Two million bottles sold annually. Boschee's German Syrup was introduced in the United States in 1868, and is now sold in every town and village in the civilized world. Three doses will relieve any ordinary cough. Price 75 cts. ## "GO!" An Episode of Invasion

By Franklin W. Calkins.

THE new El Dorado was in sight. Gordon's party of 12 tired frontiersmen had mounted the high divide which separates the sources of the Running Water from those of the Cheyenne. For five weeks the men had shoveled drifts, buffeted blizzards and kept a constant vigil among the interminable sand hills. By means, too, of stable canvas, shovels, axes, iron picket pins and a modicum of dry feed, they had kept in good condition the splendid eight-mule team which drew their big freighter.

In fact "Gordon's outfit" was a model one in every respect, and probably no similar body of men ever faced our snow-bound, trackless plains, better equipped for the adventure. And now the muffled marchers cheered as "Cap." Gordon halted them, and pointed to a blurred and inky upheaval upon the far rim of a limitless waste of white. The famous Black Hills, a veritable wonderland, unseen hitherto by any party of whites save the men of Custer's expedition, lay before them.

Two more days and the gold-seekers would gain the shelter of those pine-covered hills, where their merry axes would "eat chips" until shelter, comfort and safety from attack were secured. Out of the bitter cold, after weeks of toil and danger, into warmth and safety—no wonder they were glad!

As yet they had seen no sign of the hostile Sioux, but their frosty cheers, thin and piping, had hardly been borne away by the cutting wind when a moving black speck appeared on the western horizon.

The speck drew nearer and resolved itself into a solitary horseman. Could it be that a single Sioux would approach a party of their strength? They watched the rider without anxiety. They were so near the goal now that no war party of sufficient strength to become a menace was likely to be gathered. They were equipped with an arsenal of modern guns, with 50,000 rounds of ammunition, and had boasted they were "good to stand off 300 Sioux."

Nearer and nearer drew the horseman, his pony coming on in rabbit-like jumps to clear the drifts. Speculation ceased. It was an Indian—probably a hunter strayed far from his village, half-starved and coming to beg for food. Well, the poor wretch should have frozen bread and meat, as much as he could eat—they could not stop to give him better fare.

It was as cold as Greenland. The bundled driver upon the great wagon slapped his single line, and yelled at the plodding mules. Eleven buffalo-coated, fur-encased men with feet clad in snow-packs marched at the tail of the freighter. In such weather their cold "shooting irons" were left in the wagon, nor did they deem it necessary now to get them out.

They were prepared for a begging Indian, but the apparition which finally rode in upon the monotony of their long march seemed to them a figure as farcical as savage. As the Sioux horseman confronted them he lowered his blanket, uncovering his solemn, barbarian face, and stretching out one long arm, pointed them back upon their trail.

"Go!" he said, and he repeated the command with fierce insistence.

The big freight wagon rattled on, but the footmen halted for a moment to laugh.

The Indian stretched his lean arm and shouted, "Go!" still more savagely. It was immensely funny, Gordon's men jeered the solitary autocrat, and laughed until their iced beards pulled. They bade him get into a drift and cool off; asked him if his mother knew he was out, and whether his feet were sore, and if it hurt him much to talk, and if he hadn't a brother who could chin-chin washtado?

His sole answer to their jeering, as he rode alongside, was "Go! go! go!" repeated with savage emphasis and a flourish of his arm to southward.

The footmen were plodding a dozen rods in the rear of their freight wagon, and still laughing frostily at this queer specimen of "Injun," when the savage spurred his pony forward. A few quick leaps carried him up to the toiling eight-mule team. His blanket dropped around his hips, and a repeating carbine rose to his face. Both wheelers dropped at the first shot, killed by a single outfit slug. A rapid fusillade of shots was distributed among the struggling mules, and then the Sioux was off, shaking his gun and yelling defiance, his pony going in zigzag leaps and like the wind.

Men ran tumbling over each other to get into the wagon and at their guns. The teamster and two or three others who, despite the cold, carried revolvers under their greatcoats, jerked their mittens and fumbled with stiff fingers for their weapons. They had not been nerved up with excitement, like the Sioux, and before they could bring their guns to bear, the savage was well out upon the prairie.

And when these men tried, with rifle or revolver, to shot at the swiftly moving erratic mark presented by the cunning Sioux and his rabbit-like pony, the cutting wind numbed their fingers and filled their eyes with water, the glistening snow obscured their front sights, and they pelted a white waste harmlessly with bullets.

The anger which raged in them when they knew the Sioux had escaped scot-free was something frightful. Six miles of the splendid eight lay welting in blood; another was disabled, and only one had come off without hurt. Half the counties of northwestern Iowa had been scoured to get together "Gordon's Pride," as this fine freight team had been named before the party left Sioux City.

The blight of their hopeful expedition, the frightful peril of their situation, were lost sight of in the absorbing desire for revenge which burned in every man of them as they gazed upon the stricken, stiffening heap of animals. All were for giving chase immediately. They believed they could easily overtake the Sioux among the drifts of the lower lands, where creeks and snow-filled ravines must cause him to shift his course continually.

"Boys," said Gordon, when some of them had hastily begun to strip for the chase, "boys, this is my particular affair. You make camp and fix it for fightin'. I'll either get that Sioux, or he'll fetch his tribe back an' get us."

Cy Gordon was their captain. He had been a hay and wood contractor for many years in the Sioux country, and his word was law to this little band.

There was no need to argue that no man could have even guessed at the daring and disaster they had looked upon. The performance had been too appallingly simple and easy. It had come as unexpectedly as the flood of a cloudburst or the bursting of a gun.

While his men stood vengefully watching the flying Sioux, Gordon stripped himself of superfluous wrappings, stocked his pockets with frozen bread and cartridges, slipped on a pair of snowshoes kept for emergency, tightened his belt, and launched himself in pursuit.

Horse and rider were again no more than a speck upon the vast snowfield. Gordon, with an "express" rifle under his arm, took the long, swinging stride of the accomplished snowshoer. In an hour the speck upon the snow had not grown smaller.

At high noon, by the sun, upon a broad flat where tall grass held the snow, Gordon came almost within bullet range of the Sioux. An hour later, among a tangle of drifted ravines, there was an exchange of shots, and the Sioux's pony dropped in its tracks. The Indian dodged out of sight, and Gordon pushed warily on with a grin of hate under his icicles.

He took up the Sioux tracks, and noted with satisfaction that the Indian's moccasined feet punched through the light crust at every other step. In just a little while!

But he followed for an hour or more among a seemingly interminable tangle of gullies without catching a glimpse of the wary dodger. Then he emerged into a wider valley, to find that the artful rascal had escaped out of range and out of sight upon a wind-swept stretch of river ice.

Gordon ground his teeth and swept over the smooth surface, sweating, despite the sharp cold, from fierce exertion. At a turn of the river he saw the Sioux; but there were others, more than a score of them, mounted and approaching the runner. The mule-killer's camp or town was close at hand.

Exhausted from his long run, Gordon, in his own language, "threw up the sponge." He hastily sought the cover of river drifts and scooped himself a kind of rifle pit. Then, with a pile of cartridges between his knees and slapping his hands to keep his fingers ready for action, he waited, meaning to do what execution he could before the end.

There was considerable parley among the Sioux, and then only a single Indian advanced toward the white man. This one came on afoot within gunshot, then stopped and shook his blanket, in token that he wanted to approach and talk.

Gordon laughed. The situation seemed to him grimly humorous. He motioned to the Indian to come on, and kept him well covered with his rifle. A moment later, however, he lowered his gun.

Whatever fate awaited Gordon, he knew that he stood in no danger of a treacherous stroke from the approaching Sioux. It was the chief, Red Cloud. Gordon arose, and the chief came forward with a hand, outstretched. "My young man has killed your mules," was Red Cloud's greeting in the Sioux tongue.

Gordon understood. "Yes," he said, "and I will not take your hand until you have done right."

The grave old chief drew his blanket about his shoulders with a shrug. "Now listen," he said. "If one of your soldiers had approached a party of my soldiers and had killed all their horses, and so crippled them and escaped, your people would have made him a big captain. It is so. My young man is very brave. He did as he was told. You cannot come here and take my country—not yet. I have watched your advance and complained to your soldiers at White River. When I saw they did not go out and catch you as our Great Father has said they should do, I sent my young man to stop you. You will find your soldiers at the three forks of White River. Now go!"

And without another word Red Cloud turned upon his heel and stalked away.

This time Gordon was glad enough to obey the injunction to "go." Three days later his little party filed in at the military camp on White River, and when, some time afterward, their boxes of freight had been recovered, not so much as a blanket or a pound of sugar had been taken by Red Cloud's Sioux.

No one need hope to shake the hand of fate.

COURT MOURNING.

Period of Grief in Various Countries Depends Entirely on Rank of Deceased.

Now that so many countries are plunged into grief over the loss of King Humbert of Italy and the duke of Saxe-Coburg, mourning such as prescribed by the court is being worn.

In England it is customary to mourn for our king or queen three months; for a son or daughter of our sovereign, such as is the case now for the duke of Saxe-Coburg, it is to be six weeks; for a brother or a sister of a sovereign, only three weeks; for an uncle, aunt, nephew or niece, the court goes into mourning for two weeks; while from three to ten days is usual for a cousin, according to the relationship. The royal regulation for the first period is a black dress, white gloves, black or white shoes, feather and fans, white pearls, diamonds or plain gold and silver ornaments may be worn, says the London Times. For the men, black court dress with black swords and buckles.

At the end of that period, which is generally a third of the whole, according to the rank of royalty being mourned for, the costume is changed, the ladies then wearing black dresses with colored ribbons, flowers, feathers, and ornaments, while the men remain as before until the court goes out of mourning. For the military and other royal servants a black crape band is fixed to the left arm for the time specified, while at night the handle of the sword is also to be enveloped in crape. In different countries different mourning colors are used, but all over Europe black is universal.
